

You'll Get Yours

Aqueduct

Should have trusted my own feelings

But I silenced intuition

When you sacrificed your honesty

I believed that you would be thereTo protect me and help me with all I'm going through

There's a joy to being free

That you could have taken from me

But I found the strength to walk awayIf you turn the pages and you look inside

There is nothing of me I feel that I have to hide

If you turn the tables and look at yourself

Is there something you fear that you would have to confess?Many things will come to pass

I can live with that

I can't help but wonder

When you'll get yoursI'm so happy I have moved on

I heard you are regretful

But you sacrificed your dignity

With the power you have abusedYou disgust me and trust me

I'm not the only one

Haven't I already proved

That I'm better off without you

I'm so glad I walked awayIf you turn the pages and you look inside

There is nothing of me I feel that I have to hide

If you turn the tables and look at yourself

Is there something you fear that you would have to confess?Many things will come to pass

I can live with that

I can't help but wonder whenFor all the lies and your manipulation

For all the times I never felt good enough

You pushed me round and put me down

To satisfy your childish egoFor all the times you made me feel worthless

The power struggles now I couldn't care less

It's after you, there's nothing you can do

What goes round comes roundIf you turn the pages and you look inside

There is nothing of me I feel that I have to hide

If you turn the tables and look at yourself

Is there something you fear that you would have to confess?Many things will come to pass

I can live with that

I can't help but wonder

When you'll get yours
