Chlorine & Wine

Baroness

When I called on my nursemaid
Come sit by my side
But she cuts through my rib cage
Pushes the pills deep in my eyesThe taste was much sweeter
Than chlorine and wine
And my doctor is unable
To cut through the cable that leads to my mindIn spite of the winter
There's ways to keep warm
Whatever you give me
Please know that I'm asking for moreThe day I stopped swiming
Came out of the dark
I've never felt so uncomfortably numb
Here by your sideBlack birds on the bed
Turning to fire
Black birds in the day
Shining a rayPlease, don't let me go
Under the rock where I found
My place in the crowd
Hope for the fathers and sonsBlack birds on the bed
Turning to fire
Black birds in the day
Shining a rayPlease, don't let me go
