

Dead Until Night

Astorian Stigmata

At I find myself looking down
Wondering if I can still see the pieces
Left smashed on the floor
And all my memories well,
Well, they've escaped to where all good things go
When no one loves them

My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
Worked so hard just for a broken heart
That I'll never let return
It's so lonely when your home

Lately the sun rises and it sets
And I couldn't tell you which is which
I'm so much older now
And lives too short
To feel this long
Sometimes words can't speak my mind

My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
Worked so hard just for a broken heart
That I'll never let return
It's so lonely when your home

My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
My heart goes beating out, right out of my chest
You weren't the only one
Worked so hard just for a broken heart
That I'll never let return
It's so lonely when your home

---

Lyrics submitted by brooke colson.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>