

I Talk Too Much

Just Jack

Sometimes I don't say the right things
To make you love me even more than you do
Though I try, I just can't apologize
For all the things I'm puttin' you through
I talk too much
And that's why I'm doin' in your head tonight
We talk too much
Some things are better left unsaid, that's right
My evil tongue does seem to run
With a mind of it's own
I must be cursed, I always make it worse
You may as well just take me home, yeah
Sometimes I don't say the right things
To make you love me even more than you do
Though I try, I just can't apologize
For all the things I'm puttin' you through
Well, I know that you've been through it
And you have your scars
All the women are from Venus and the men from Mars
I could tell you every time I admit the charge
So wrong
Last thing I want to do is to cause you grief
When I hide your clean soul from the dark beneath
When it comes to the feeling I can make this brief
So strong
Below the horizon suns dip
We're playing our hand with one chip
How could we think we had so little to lose?
And in the flights of fireflies
There is a pattern recognized
How could we think we had so little to lose?
Sometimes I don't say the right things
To make you love me even more than you do
Though I try, I just can't apologize
For all the things I'm puttin' you through
And the breath you waste just to fill the space
Is a bitter taste in your mouth every time
And yes, you're blessed, I'm self obsessed
You should give me more but you give me less and less

Well, I know that you've been through it
And you have your scars
All the women are from Venus and the men from Mars
I could tell you every time I admit the charge
So wrong
Last thing I want to do is to cause you grief
When I hide your clean soul from the dark beneath
When it comes to the feeling I can make this brief
So strong
She says, ?I know you know what you do
But you still keep doing it?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>