

Leave Me Be

Beau

I've got a feeling someone's listening to the Secrets I've been keeping
Everyone's looking me in the eye
Through the people in my mind
There's a man made up of ice
That won't blink even at night
I never really sleep alone at home
He even listens through the phone
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
You've got a picture hanging of me
In your mind (?) not reality
A figment of your lonely life
A distraction to get by
There's a world made up of lies
That's when each one passes by (?)
We never really walk the streets alone
Our shadows follow us to the unknown
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
I know you're spying
I know you're searching
Stop waiting for me
I see you lurking
I know you're creeping
I know you're dreaming
Stop waiting for me
I see you peeking
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
All I ever asked for was just to be left alone
All I ever wanted was something to call my own
