Too Many Words

Ian Darby

I've tried to balance these lives that we are living
You always feel justified but you never feel forgiving
I woke up one morning to find myself
Wrapped in the things I swore I'd never touch
And here I am again, trying to save what's left of you and I
So why aren't you satisfied?I've reached out, fell short, now you're hurt, too many words
Breaking the silence
I've felt it, bled it, screamed it, it only gets worse
And then it kills me watching me too angry for us to survive
I used too many words tonightI tried to get it right but I was just wastin' my time
'Cause you never compromised when it came toward us
We struggle and fall apart, we build it back to static start
The endless accusations, I can't believe we made it this farI've reached out, fell short, now you're hurt, too many words
Breaking the silence
I've felt it, bled it, screamed it, it only gets worse
And then it kills me watching me too angry for us to survive
I used too many words tonightWaking alone tomorrow
Has gotta be better than thisI've reached out, fell short, now you're hurt, too many words
Breaking the silence
I've felt it, bled it, screamed it, it only gets worse
I used too many words tonight
Too many words, too many words, too many words, too many words
