Weight of Time

Rise Against

Speak with hesitation
Talk with reservation
Blood on your hands dried long since
But guilt still glowing in your eyesYou hide behind
(And now this blood has long since dried)
Your perfect crime
(Guilt still glowing in your eyes)
Never ask why you lieNow I've watched youStack the mistakes you've made
On top of the lies to hide them
Your excuses just don't add up
Empty handed we all wonder whyYou hide behind
(And now this blood has long since dried)
Your perfect crime
(Guilt still glowing in your eyes)
Never ask why you lieNow I know that
Your words, your actions
Intentions all were liesYour heart grows heavier with time
(And now this blood has long since dried)
Have I said enough, have I said too much
Is it your responsibility to decide
You're heart grows heavier with time
(I will decide)And I fell victim to the changing tide
And this blood has long since dried
And this blood has long since dried

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/