

Your Mercy

Blessed

Confession is good for the soul, they say
Well now it's my turn
I'm willing to share what I've learned someday
But someday's not willing to learn.
I don't always like to be told , no
What's right from wrong
I'm selfish sometimes when I don't wanna be.
How can you stand me, why do you hold on?

CHORUS:

I'm always talking about the way you bless me
I'm always singing about how good you are
But I don't always tell no that it despite of myself
You know I haven't been good
Somedays I dont do what I should
Yet your mercy somehow endures.

There's no other love that compares to yours
It's hard to understand
How you never repay me what I deserve
I thank you that you're not like man
See sometimes I desire to give hurt for hurt
Yet I know that's not like you
Yet this old this old flesh of mine tries to win everytime
I'm grateful your word is true
You faithfully see me through

CHORUS

BRIDGE:

Your mercy
Is good and it's kind
Your mercy
Is brand new every day
Your mercy
Is everlasting
Your Mercy

CHORUS

Ad Lib out

Lyrics submitted by Vantresia.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>