

Infinite Possibilities

Amel Larrieux

21, oh and life has just begun, got a temper like a gun
Pointing it at everyone, that's his game
And it helps him to get through the day
But a voice inside him says, "How much longer can I play?" He's got infinite possibilities, I can see them now
It's the unbroken chains of his past by which he's bound
He's got infinite possibilities, I can feel them now
If he chooses well, then nothing can tear him down Peace of mind, not easy for him to find and he's walkin' a thinner line
In a place where another man is keeping his time
Though he's young he's not like everyone
He sees what he's become and he'd rather be standing in the sun He's got infinite possibilities, I can see them
now
It's the unbroken chains of his past by which he's bound
He's got infinite possibilities, I can feel them now
If he chooses well, then nothing can tear him down, oh oh oh
Oh oh oh Infinite possibilities, I can see them now
It's the unbroken chains of his past by which he's bound
He's got infinite possibilities, I can feel them now
If he chooses well, then nothing can tear him down Infinite possibilities, I can see them now
It's the unbroken chains of his past by which he's bound
He's got infinite possibilities, I can feel them now
If he chooses well, then nothing can tear him down Infinite, infinite possibilities
In, in, infinite possibilities, possibilities, oh
Infinite possibilities, infinite possibilities, infinite possibilities, infinite
Oh infinite possibilities, infinite possibilities
Infinite possibilities, infinite possibilities
Stand in the sun and see
