

Skeleton

Eitch

look up at the sky
smother it with blue
I want to see further
I want to see you pierce it like flesh penetrate it through
I want to sleep longer I want to dream you little wonder here a little ponder there fixing and spinning
aligning in chairstaking in doses spitting at the air creeping and crawling pulling out my hair I'll see you in the morning at sunrise so don't call me look up at the sky
smother it with blue
I want to see further
penetrate it through
I want to sleep longer
I want to dream you taking your advice smoothing out the rough spots compromising my adulthood complaining for no reason always look to fix things and I stay weakened I'll see you in the morning at sunrise so don't call me look up at the sky
smother it with blue
penetrate it through
I want to sleep longer
I want to dream you can't you see I love you now? and want your trust now I'll see you in the morning at sunrise so don't call me little wonder here
spitting at the air
pulling out my hair but can't you see I want your trust now? look up at the sky

smother it with blue
penetrate it through
I want to sleep longer
I want to dream you'll see you in the morning at sunrise so don't call me don't call me
