

Decapitated In Barbie's Dreamhouse

Heart Shaped Hate

Even before she came apart
She was really nothing at all
    No bones and no joints
    Only crude connections
    Dressed in neon and velcro
    Her hair was cut
    It would never grow back
    Her guts would spill

But she didn't have any as a matter of factAll the while she is smiling
    The white paint reminding
    Me of something pure and undisturbed
    But she's perturbed

She makes me very very very very insecureAll alone in her castle
    A big fake house of artificial material
    And pepto-bismol colored walls
    She has it all
    She had it all
    In possession and presentation
    Flawless limbs and facial expression
    Lips and thighs and tits

You only get from botox injectionsAnd all the accessories to match
    Latex skin without a single scratchAll along she had it coming
    There was no escape no running
    Her flimsy knees don't move
    Unless you break them in two
    All along she had it coming
    There was no escape no running
    Her flimsy knees don't move

Unless you break them in twoHer head popped off on the tile floor
    It got caught in the kitchen door
    Pink guillotine with the plastic blade
    I think these rooms are filled with hate
    Her arm fell off in the empty bathtub
    It got twisted around the faucet and knobs
    Turn on the water, making it scalding hot
        Melt her down the drain
        In the pipes she's a clog

And she's goneNow she comes to haunt you in yr sleep
    She creeps into yr tattered dreams

She scoffs and taunts you while you eat
Holds yr hair as you vomit yr stomach cleanSuck it in
    To make you thin
        Suck it in
    You make me cringe
        Suck it in
    To make you thin
        Suck it in
You make me cringeGod bless mattell
    For giving us hell
    Thousands of plastic role models
An anorexic army turning teens to trash piles
