The Rumjacks

Tell me Father what's the craic
Is Jesus really coming back
And if he does d'ye think he'll live here in the burbs?
Cos I'd like to help out round the place
A few odd jobs for holy grace
And I'll even let you preach your strange old words

For I've been a Godless fool
They thrashed it outta me at school
And I swore id never take a knee again
But if you can guarantee me there's
A heaven up & a hell down there
My wicked sinful ways I'll seek to mend

If all them stars above are saints in some accord
And Les Darcy is among em,
Then I'll make peace with the Lord

I were spat on, I were beat
I were tossed into the street
Where I lay cackling in the filthy bloody rain
I went from bar to bar
Callin dogs jus what they were
Until the next one tried to slap me round the brains

A bottle of cheap whisky
Was the key unlocking beasts inside o' me
That oughtn't see the light of day
I'd shower on all fours
Go punch holes in all the doors
And drag my heart around like it were dying prey

If all them stars above are saints in some accord
And Les Darcy is among em,
Then I'll make peace with the Lord

I've heard him called so many things
'Hey-Sue Christy' â€ˆKing of Kings'
Is it Mister, Father, Son or Holy Ghost?
He could turn the water into wine

And we can have a laugh about the time
He popped up on that old dears slice o' toast

I've been around & seen some things
Slept with witches, fought for Kings
And I've sung a song o' joy in many lands
But if my dog can't get to Heaven
While some mongrels go on livin'
I'm not sure he's got the whole world in his hands

If all them stars above are saints in some accord
And Les Darcy is among em,
Then I'll make peace with the Lord

If all them stars above are saints in some accord
And Les Darcy is among em,
Then I'll make peace with the Lord

If Roy Williamson's among em, then I'll make peace with the Lord
If Burnsey is among em, then I'll make peace with the Lord
If my Grandad Bill's among em, then I'll make peace with you Lord
