Beyonce

She stacks the odds against herself
She's living on the other side of town
She gazes at her crystal ball
Thinking it might be her time

And what really bothers me is that her father's never there
And what really gets to me is that her father never cared

Be my Beyonce and I will reach out
Be my Beyonce and I will hold on to you
And if you don't appreciate the name
As long as you feel the same
You'll always be Beyonce to me

She carries her own burden
It seems to be a heavy load
She worries about the future
This and that and so and so

And what really bothers me is that her father's never there
And what really gets to me is that her father never cared

Be my Beyonce and I will reach out
Be my Beyonce and I will hold on to you
And if you don't appreciate the name
As long as you feel the same
You'll always be Beyonce to me

You'll always be Beyonce to me
