Surrender

Martina Mcbride

baby why did we get into this if all we're gonna do is fight about kids and money and stupid little things someone's always gotta be right i was just thinking why you were still yelling that i don't even hear you anymore and baby it's not all your fault but i'm tired of being a soldier in this unwinnable war so i'm gonna surrender
surrender
so I'll role out my white flag if you lay down your arms and if we can start talking instead of just screaming and maybe we can save our hearts 'cause nobody is coming to the rescue baby it's all up to you and me to find a little compromise, to find our love along the ruins and live our lives in peace we're gonna have to surrender i won't fight anymore

surrender
i don't know what we're fighting for
surrender
i won't fight anymore
surrender
i don't know what we're fighting for i walk through these battle lines i will cross this great divide i will, i will, i will, i will Lay down my pride
surrender
baby you know i will surrender
surrender
i won't fight anymore
surrender

i don't know what we're fighting for
surrender
i won't fight anymore
surrender
i don't know what we're fighting for

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/