

Too Late

Familiar 48

Too much like everybody else
You let me fall to my knees again
We can't pretend it's all right
To make it through another night
All this is happening too fast
She said she knew it wouldn't last
And why should anything change?
Cause you decide to remain We're too late
Took too long
Yeah, I thought that we could have had it all
We're too late
Took too long
Yeah, I thought that we could have had it all So much like everybody else
I let you fall at my feet again
Well let's pretend it's all right
And make it through another night
I'm not like everybody else
So please don't put me on a shelf, no, no
And why should anything change?
Cause you decide to remain We're too late
Took too long
Yeah, I thought that we could have had it all
We're too late
Took too long
Yeah, I thought that we could have had it all
