Dry

Tura Satana

Trying hard to face another day
No more left to give, nothing left to break
Melting in the sun, breathing in the day
Falling into love and climbing out again
There's nowhere left to run
No more tears to cry, the river's running dry
There's no more left to give
Love has left me dry
Reaching out beneath a sea of pain
Riding high on waves of hope again
Chipping as the stone face cracks away
Crying out again as my bones break
There's nowhere left to run

No more tears to cry, the river's running dry
There's no more left to give
Love has left me dry
Why is every minute like a year?
What if we could save ourselves from this?
Life is such a bitch and it gets worse
Fate is like a rope around your neck
There's nowhere left to run
No more tears to cry, the river's running dry
There's no more left to give
Love has left me dry, love has left me dry
The river's running dry again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/