Rusty

Idlewild

You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step, and every page
You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step, and every pageYour croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the centuryWhat are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close,
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're aboutYou look worn out, more and more each day
With every step and every page
And you're still worn out, more and more each day
There's every way toYour croft dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft, dated back to
The beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the centuryWhat are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're aboutWhat are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about

Songwriters
NEWTON, COLIN/WOOMBLE, RODDY/PRYCE-JONES, RODPublished by Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/