Reborn

Scar Symmetry

The path before you never coming to a halt
It stretches endlessly from here into the unknown
Looking back you barely see through the fog
What you were once, you are no moreEach moment unique, none exactly the same
Defied, denied to live and exist like this again
Now you will see you are reborn
Arrive, arise to your new world as this one dies
Forever death will embrace everythingAt dusk arrives, the dark night of the soul
Waiting to crush every stone left unturned
As you enter, go at least with this certainty
You will emerge at dawn transformedEach moment unique, none exactly the same
Defied, denied to live and exist like this again
Now you will see you are reborn
Arrive, arise to your new world as this one dies
Forever death will embrace everythingAll things end, none survives
Every form must fade awayAll things end, changing shape
Waking to life againEach moment unique, none exactly the same
Defied, denied to live and exist like this again
Now you will see you are reborn
Arrive, arise to your new world as this one dies
Forever death will embrace everything
