

When We Were Young

Falls

You smiled hello as we battled the snow
Two strangers in New York
I started a line, my words frozen in time as we Turn left on Lafayette You promised me you would
But you never could
You say you will
I'm waitin' still Woah You should've seen me back when we were young
And seen me do all those things I'd done
You might've loved me
Back when we were young As you made your escape
It all seemed too late
I descended the stairs to the dark
With a whiskey in hand
And perhaps some divine plan
You appeared just in time You promised me you would
But you never could
You say you will
I'm waitin' still Woah You should've seen me back when we were young
And seen me do all those things I'd done
You might've loved me
Back when we were young Woah You smiled hello as we battled the snow
Two strangers in New York

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>