Still Loving After You

The Common Linnets

Half a world away,
and a thousand nights behind
I am still loving after you.
In the darkness of my days,
In the silence of my mind.
I am still loving after youAnd your beautiful dreams are illusions
and the song that you sing is not true
For all the tears I've cried, and the times that you have lied
I am still loving after you.I'm a stranger to these streets a ghost behind these walls and regrets I've more than a few And the heart that's hurt and hollow broken by the fall
I am still loving after youAnd your beautiful dreams are illusions
and the song that you sing is not true
But for all the tears I've cried
and the times that you have lied.
I am still loving after youI thought one day I might be enough deserving of your love I guess I must not know when to give up cause I'm not giving up ooh, ooh, oohAnd your beautiful dreams are illusions
and the song that you sing is not true
But for all the tears I've cried
and the times that you have lied
I am still loving after youFor all the tears I've cried
and the times that you have lied
I am still loving after you
Yes I am still loving after you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/