What you want you are You always were What you want you are You always were When the plans fall changing hands What are the chances of winning? You, you hold my heart You, you won't let up After when I'm called Touch turns into fisticuffs It's all in your head Wonder if I'm fixed to cutguitar soloFor its statistics in the collected whole We are the hunger that keeps you climing walls It's the one thing you can count on We all end floating away (x2)You, you hold my heart You, you won't let up After when I'm called Touch turns into fisticuffs

It's all in your head
Wonder if I'm fixed to cutIs it your fault? (repeat)You, you're sinking, so they say
You, you're finished, so they say
You, you're boring, so they say
You, I care when caring fades
