

Soilborn

Killswitch Engage

Time will not stand still today is the day the day of salvation
Living for more than just a synthetic force fed existence
This is my disposition I will strive for the truth this is my disposition
I will strive for integrity time will not stand still
We are the soil born we are the children soil born washed in blood
Because we are blind we must not take this life
For granted in this everlasting thirst to maintain vitality
This is my disposition I will strive to find rebirth today
Is the day of salvation life has only just begun today is the day
