

Cruise Control

Def Leppard

I close my eyes I bend in prayer
I train my mind to just not care
And to my God I give my soul
I train my mind to cruise control
Daylight shines upon the hour of my faith
I step in to the sun
I shield my eyes from the glory of the morning
And blow it all to kingdom come
I hear my God, He calls my name
I must atone all men can change
And for my God I ring the bell
I will condemn the infidel

Daylight shines upon the hour of my soul
I step in to the sun
I shield my eyes from the glory of the morning
And blow it all to kingdom come
For when I was a boy You came to me
I made up my mind
Surrender all time and space to Him
And blow the world to kingdom come
Daylight shines upon the hour of my faith
I step into the sun
I shield my eyes from the glory of the morning
And blow it all to kingdom come
And blow it all to kingdom come

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>