Close Your Eyes and Look Away

The Color Morale

The day burns darkest right before the dawn.As I've conflicted beliefs with my own.I am as guilty, as every one of you!So prepare the fallout will lead me back through this nightmare.Today Is the day to get through what you've been going through.Show no concern to those who never even try to learn,Show no concern to those who never even try to learn...I pray, you, you all will find this as I've found this.And every time I forget, it finds me.

Prepare your parting gifts, and send them all,Right off this cliff they call life.Send them all, right off of this cliff they call life, I know that you will be here.To teach me to fly, every every time they clip their wings.Your names are written... Right there in the sky...You just have to read them.

Prepare your parting gifts, and send them all, right off this cliff...Send them all right off this cliff that they call life.(I know you will be here), to teach me to fly every every time.They clip their wings, they won't give... reach... for... both... hands...
