

Country Cookie #3

The Black Swans

When the morning sun rises
Over the tips of the sandias
My stomach is still dancing
With last night's tequillaI know i've been thinking of youMy heart wood flows raking,
From the nights i've been pacing
My windows are thanking me
Since it's my memory that's breakingI know i've been thinking of youMaybe you could still be the one
And friendship shouldn't stay undone
Do you even consider all the good things
On my mind tonight?I see a new November
And I can still remember
The first kiss, the first tremble
When we were strong, stong as metalI know i've been thinking of you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>