

Come Back (Before You Leave)

Roxette

Come back before you leave
Come back before you leave Never looked back on a love affair
I never spent minutes on history
It made me sad, it made me so sad And in no time, no time at all
A change has begun and the name is You
I feel strange, you've made my life strange 'Cos baby, when you get close to me
I say, "There's a certain chemistry" Come back before you leave
I haven't got room for a broken heart
Come back before you leave
You shouldn't go at all, you shouldn't go at all So many years and so many nights
I still can recall, oh, the way
That you move when you dance
Do you want to dance? We've had our habits and attitudes
You make me remember
The power when everything's right
Please stay the night 'Cos baby when you get close to me
There's something about you I really need, oh Come back before you leave
I haven't got room for a broken heart
Come back before you leave
You shouldn't go at all, at all Come back before you leave
I haven't got room for a broken heart
Come back before you leave
You shouldn't go at all, no, you shouldn't go at all Babe, come back before you leave
I'll be the air for you when you breathe
I'll be the rising sun Close the door, let's make love
All God's angels, sing above
Into the rising sun Come back before you leave
I haven't got room for a broken heart
Come back before you leave
You shouldn't go at all, no Come back before you leave
I haven't got room for a broken heart
Come back before you leave
You shouldn't go at all, hey, you shouldn't go at all Come back before you leave
Come back before you leave
Come back before you leave
