Write a Letter

JJ Grey & Mofro

Soft as a voice, spoken from heaven
Honey for my ears, temper my soul
The warmth in the rain, the green in the bottom
The echo in the night when a train whistle blowsHolding up your arms, v is for victory
Power versus force, power wins
Radiate the joy from deep in your essence
It's always the beginning it's always the endI write these words and I'm going to send them home to you
I'm going to write a letter, send it home
First class, first class baby
Let them know where I'm going to be
I'm going to write a letter, send it home
Just as fast, as fast as you can mister postman
If you pleaseI've been waiting, been waiting, waiting so long
Time ain't standing still, ain't standing still
While i sing, sing this songHolding up your arms, v is for victory
Power versus force, power wins
Radiate the joy from deep in your essence
It's always the beginning it's always the endI write these words, someday i know I'll understand
Ooh baby want you understand
I'm going to write a letter, send it home
First class, first class baby
Let them know where I'm going to be
I'm going to write a letter, send it home
Just as fast, as fast as you can mister postman
If you please
