

Some Paths

Mishka

Some paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah
Even though you leftSome paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah, yeah
Even though you weptWhite horses dancing on the ocean
Coal fire burnin' in the hills
Sweet smell of rain upon the dry land
Point to the ground and ask are you stillSome paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah
Even though you leftSome paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah, yeah
Even though you weptOnce upon a country road you danced
Smell of orange leaves crushed up in your hands
Sun so hot it shimmered on the pavement
Said it looked like diamonds in the sandSome paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah
Even though you left a long, long time agoSome paths will not forget you
Some roads remember footsteps, yeah, yeah
Even though you weptHear familiar voices out in the distance, yeah
Hoping someone out there will throw you a line
'Cause we're all out here on the edge of existence, yeah
We're all out here on the edge of time, time, time, time
