

You and You Alone

Martina McBride

When the storm comes rolling 'round
Love's the rain and you're the ground
Like it's only coming down
On you and you alone If you're smile falls out of place
I would run to kiss your face Take my heart
It's made of clay For you and you alone Go on to your words to me
It won't change anything
I'll still be endlessly, hopelessly yours You stole my heart away
Think about you everyday
Take my heart
It's made of clay For you and you alone Go on to your words to me
It won't change anything
I'll still be helplessly, hopelessly yours You stole my heart away
Think about you everyday These are words I'll never say
To you and you alone
