Pizzicato

Simon

You awake to the dream on a purple town night
Oh you want her so badly you hope she knows why
As your feet hit the street feel the beat and the heat and the light
For all you know all of the stars blink down below
Hear the street corner soul coming to punch through every hole in timeEmpty seats in the dart Montana sky
Sandmen read learning the gospel of the night
Oh you hold her close so you can feel her in your bones
So overthrown all of the angels sleep alone tonightPizzicato there's no tomorrow
Pizzicato there's no tomorrowYou awake to the dream on a purple town night
As the carnival king taps a rhythm that shines
You bust up the air feel it drop through a hole in the sky
Lightening breaks across a ground that begs to quake
And it lights her face in rhythm and rhythm's holding sway tonight
