

Sucked the Life

Among Savages

I had a lover a hundred times over
But she was not a blessing
I am a dreamer and Im a believer
That is why she had the best of me I was enamored
And love was a chance
For me to try and get to know that girl With no question,
Then theres no answer
A pardon for what I have learned She sucked the life right out of my skin
And every time I see her she does it again
I cant get her out, cause I didnt let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind The moral in the fable
Was searching that enabled
Her to make up her stubborn mind The questions that I asked her
Regarding changes of the past
I said why would you waste my time? I said please dont walk away into the night
I could not take it if you disappeared from my sight
I said please stay by my side
And whispered to the heavens to hear my cries If I let you go
If I let you go
Will you come home to me?
Will you come back home? She sucked the life right out of my skin
And every time I see her she does it again
I cant get her out, cause I didnt let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind She sucked the life right out of my skin
And every time I see her she does it again
I cant get her out, cause I didnt let her in
Beware of the woman that dances in the midnight wind

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>