For What Itâ€™s Worth

Liam Gallagher

In my defense, all my intentions were good
And heaven knows a place somewhere for the misunderstood
You know I'd give you blood if it'd be enough
Devil's on my doorstep since the day I was born
It's hard to find a sunset in the eye of a storm
But I'm a dreamer by design and I know in time
We'll put this behindFor what it's worth, I'm sorry for the hurt I'll be the first to say
I made my own mistakes
For what it's worth, I know it's just a word
And words betrayed
Sometimes we lose our way
For what it's worth
Behind the lens is a poisoned picture you paint
Let's not pretend you were ever searching for saints
'Cause I've been crucified for just being alive
Somewhere in the crossfire if this whispering war
Seems that I forgot just what I was fighting for
But underneath my skin, there's a fire within
Still burningFor what it's worth, I'm sorry for the hurt
I'll be the first to say
I made my own mistakes
For what it's worth, I know it's just a word
And words betrayed
Sometimes we lose our way
For what it's worthThe first bird to fly gets all the arrows
Let's leave the past behind with all our sorrows
I'll build a bridge between us and I'll swallow my pride
For what it's worth, I'm sorry for the hurt
I'll be the first to say
I made my own mistakes
For what it's worth, I know it's just a word
And words betrayed
Sometimes we lose our way
For what it's worth
