

Season's End

Marillion

Getting close to seasons end
I heard somebody say
That it might never snow again
In England Snow flakes in a new-born fist
Sledging on a hill
Are these things we'll never see
In England We'll tell our children's children why
We grew so tall and reached so high
We left our footprints in the earth
And punched a hole right through the sky We'll tell them how we changed the world
And how we tamed the sea
And seasons they will never know
In England So watch the old world melt away
A loss regrets could never mend
You never miss it till it's gone
So say goodbye, say goodbye We'll tell our children's children why
We grew so tall and reached so high
You never miss it till it's gone
So say goodbye, say goodbye
To seasons end

Songwriters

HELMER, JOHN/MOSLEY, IAN/TREWAVAS, PETER/KELLY, MARK Published by

Lyrics © EMI Music Publishing, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>