Wandering Eye

Reckless Kelly

So your baby got the whole town talking
And they say you better open your eyes
And you act as if you never saw it coming
Even though you got some good advice
And you've never been an angel yourself
But now you're gonna know how it feels
So quit your cryin' like your sad life's over
You were never really head over heels
But you wouldn't know love if you lost it
Even though you regret the goodbye
But you let your heart lead you blind into love
When you trusted a wandering eye
Poor little baby got your heart half broken
And now it's time to overreact
Making a scene like you're filming a western
And the dialog is action packed
It's probably better that you got it all out
And now it's high time to move on
'Cause you knew deep inside when you looked in those eyes
There was really always something wrong
But you wouldn't know love if you lost it
Even though you regret the goodbye
But you let your heart lead you blind into love
When you trusted a wandering eye
You're like the field mouse standing by the river
Staring at the other side
Up swam your baby like an old alligator
Said, "Hop on kid I'll give you a ride"
And even though you heard a whole lot of promises
You never saw the other shore
Hey, but only a fool would have believed the alligator
And you knew it when you climbed on board
But you wouldn't know love if you lost it
Even though you regret the goodbye
But you let your heart lead you blind into love
When you trusted a wandering eye
Had stone cold love and you lost it
Even though you regret the goodbye
But you let your heart lead you blind into love

When you trusted a wandering eye
