Half a Heart

Sawyer Brown

I've got to look out my back door check and see if the coast is clear
I'm talking to my self and I keep it low making sure that you don't hear
I never know day to day if you feel the same way
And I can only believe in half of what I'm feelingAnd I walk the line time after time you keep me in the middle
The only thing I know
I'm half a heart to stay girl and half a mind to goNow I've come to a fork in the road which way do I go from here
There's one thing that you got to know there ain't nothing perfectly clear
You want to know where this ends I wanna know where it begins
And I'm left here in between what you say and what you meanAnd I walk the line time after time you keep me in the middle
The only thing I know
I'm half a heart to stay girl and half a mind to go

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/