We Rule the Night

Squad Five-O

Sun goes down, into the west again.
Night wind blowing through my hair.
Starlight shine, moonlight glow.
On the streets and out of control.
On the prowl til the sun comes up again.
All right, come dusk I feel at home.
Sun goes down, we rule the night.
All right, through the night I will roam.
Sun goes down, we rule the night.
Scream out loud, to a jet-black sky.
Hear the sound of the roaring crowd.
Hit the stage and understand.
Why there's sweat on my face and blood on my hand.
50,000 watts of youth tonight.
All right, this is my night song.
Hit the stage, we rule the night.
All right, and the anthems carry on.
Hit the stage, we rule the night.
And as the voices die out, and we leave another town.
Headed to the great unknown, through the darkness we will roam.
Passing places, passing out, we travel on.
This is ours.
