

God Bless The Women

Lucky Dube

In the middle of the night I heard her pray
So bitterly and so softly, yeah
She prayed for her children
She prayed for their education
Then she prayed for the man
That left her with her children We praise heroes everyday
But there are those that we forget to praise
The women of this world
They don't run from anything
They stand and fight for what's right Oh oh oh
God bless the women Even when times are so hard
They are so cool, calm and collected
They don't run from anything
They stand and fight for what is right They do not run from responsibilities
They stand and fight for what is right Oh oh oh
God bless the women
