

Stronger

Building 429

I want you to know
That I'm getting stronger with every punch you throw
I'm not staying down, staying down, oh no
I'm getting stronger with every word you say
I'm not staying down, I'm getting stronger I look into your eyes and I see pain
I can see the fear but you hide it away
When you push me, when you push me I'm looking at your hands, and I see scars
Looking at the remnants of your broken heart
When you push me, when you push me You got less than you deserved
So you need someone to hurt
You know how it feels to fall apart
You got it all, but it's a house of cards
When you push me, when you push me Masquerading like a king on a hill
If they knew you, would they love you still?
When you push me, yeah, you push me And every day, you just feel worse
So you need to share the hurt
Someday, someday Maybe someday we'll find a way
To stand together on our own
And maybe you'll see that you're just like me
And we'll stand together on our own
Maybe someday we'll find a way to love each other
Maybe you'll see you're just like me
We'll stand together

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>