

A Mother's Love

A.C.T

I cry out to you, like I've done many times before
I hope you listen to my prayer tonight
I'm in desperate need of help. I can't decide all by myself
The crossroad's here, which path shall I stride? I've been watching you since the day that I died
Can you not feel my love just breeze by your side?
But I can not help you to make that choice 'cause your destiny is sealed.
My heart, my son. How can I go back? Meeting just pain and misery
No one should live the life that I do
But what will wait ahead? Maybe something even worse?
God! Try to see it from my point of view I've been watching you since the day that I died
Can you not feel my love just breeze by your side?
But I can not help you to make that choice 'cause your destiny is sealed.
My heart, my son. Life is not fair, I should have told you all along from the start
You have to go back, he needs your help, he is your father
There's no choice. He'd do it for me
