

Tree Talker

The Whiskey Hollow

Lying seeing the sun in taste
Lying taking up normal space on this train, that leads me nowhere fast
Lying heard you laughing for years
I've been longing for a story just so i can hear
I'm better off alone
Cause you and i both know you treated me wrong
Gave me a list and I gave you a song but not the one you wanted to hear
Have you had enough time to think about the choices you've made?
So easy so easy so easy it was sad, so sad
I've been talking to a tree
Not another one who could have been just like me
It could have been my own
Cause you and i both know you treated me wrong
Gave me a list and I gave you a song but not the one you wanted to hear
Some say there's a world out there
Far from what we know
When love just a cover for reaping what you sought, sought

Lyrics Submitted by Annibelle Hetrick

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>