The Song With No Name

Shane MacGowan

Long years ago I fell in love
With a lady proud and fair
So passionate were she and I
We made fire in the airI loved her more than life itself
She loved me just the same
And it broke my heart
To think we'd part if she ended the affairBut I was brutal, I was ignorant
I was cruel, I was brash
I never gave a damn about
The beauty that I smashed
No sadist I, I took delight
In making my love cry
Now I'd pray for a single kiss from her
To be lashed and crucifiedAnd now I feel this lady fair
Can never more be mine
Long gone are night in my lonely bed
All suffering and crying
And though I fear that through this life
She'll only call me friend
'Till I'm dead and buried in my grave
My love will never end
