

All Your Lies

10 Years

Pay attention, pay attention, pay attention, please
He who lusts through life for excess of this world
Dies a lonely man, careless of his soul Throwing caution to the wind with foolish ignorance
You're full of pride, full of pride
Full of pride and arrogance you can't accept
The nearing end of this short lived life Smile and give a toast, brag and boast
Fool the world with all of your lies
The parasite's host never even knows
Pull the wool over our eyes Walk the line and pay the price
A pound of flesh for paradise
Wear the wounds of your demise Fail to mention your intentions, fail to mention why
Your actions in life contradict your words
The path in which you walk, a line of no remorse
Washing conscience from the skin
Claiming innocence, ignore the signs Smile and give a toast, brag and boast
Fool the world with all of your lies
The parasite's host never even knows
Pull the wool over our eyes Walk the line and pay the price
A pound of flesh for paradise
Wear the wounds of your demise
A pound of flesh for paradise Bend the truth till you can't find it
Twist your lies till you don't mind them Walk the line and pay the price
A pound of flesh for paradise
Wear the wounds of your demise From cradle to grave, you chose to trade
A pound of flesh for paradise
