

Another Stupid Love Song

Dot Dot Dot

She waits by the door she says she's in love
She says it's the best day of her life
A typical girl, she gives everything

Well, she smiles to make it clever.
So perfectly together
It doesn't matter whether, he can make it better
When she promised him forever, he can do whatever he feels

She's another stupid love song, nothing new to say
(I keep on telling you)
She's another stupid love song, nothing new to say
(I keep on telling you)

He catches her heart, smiles with a sting, and tells her she's brilliant when she cries
A typical boy, he wants everything

Well she smiles to make it clever
So perfectly together
It doesn't matter whether he can make it better
When she promised him forever he can do whatever he feels

She's another stupid love song, nothing new to say
(I keep on telling you)
She's another stupid love song, nothing new to say
(I keep on telling you)

You'd love her to leave but she can't seem to be here without you
You'd love her to leave but she can't seem to be here without you

She's another stupid love song, nothing new to say
I keep on telling you
