Lessons Never Learned

No Fun At All

Am I getting older? I'm losing all my touch
Falling for the ordinary, walking with a crutch
Make a little false step and suddenly you're marked
Lights are out, you find yourself alone and in the darkI can never see the sky for all the clouds
Making everything so hard and full of doubts
Lessons never learned and nothing ever stuckLife is getting harder, so join me in my quest
Find out who seduced our minds, I'd say 'Readers Digest'
Make a contribution and you will get a prize
I can't tell you what it is, just something really niceTaking another chance, the risk is higher than before
Nobody seems to notice that it's time to say enough
Looking around and I know what I've done
And I don't wanna stop and I'm pushing my luck
You won't have the guts to turn me down

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/