Come And Go

So you're leaving town this morning
Said a change is what you needed
But the eyes of those who say goodbye
Well they just don't know
Well if home is where you make it
And the chances fall around you
Are you stupid enough to take them
To sit there lost in blue

You say that the wind won't blow
You say that the sky don't seem the same around you
As long as those wheels still roll, may they bring you safely home

Well, this place is where you found out
About life and how to make it
But, if you leave your past behind you
Do you really grow?
So you say goodbye to family
And you say goodbye to your heart
Cause a dream that's worth the chasing
Also tears apart

You say that the wind won't blow
You say that the sky don't seem the same around you
As long as those wheels still roll, may they bring you safely home

Where your mind says you're needed
Home where the light never fades out
Or goes away
Home where your safe, can't you see it
Home with my arms open wide
I'll kiss it all away

Instrumental

You say there's too much dying
And the spirits seem to cry out
And the star that's touched your shoulder
Says its time to go

You say that the wind won't blow
You say that the sky don't seem the same around you
As long as those wheels still roll, may they bring you safely home

May they bring you safely home
May they bring you safely
Bring you safely
Bring you safely home
