Holy Land

Jenny Hval

When I went to America I found myself to be not myself.
I could not align with the landscape. It reminded me, my body, of being newborn.I understand why people want to be reborn,
I understand why people speak in tongues.
I understand why people want to feel newborn.
I understand that it's the same as feeling unborn.
I understand that we all want to feel unborn.
I understand it in America
