Breakable

Fisher

Do you always have to tell him everything
On your mind?
You know that too much honesty can be
So unkindChorus:
And every time you throw him to the floor
Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?You always try to find what's holding him
Away from you
But do you ever see your anger standing there
Right between you?And every time you throw him to the wall
Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?Tell the world that he's breaking your heart
Go tell the world nothing's ever your fault
Go tell them allAnd every time you throw him to the floor
Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?
And every time you push him to the wall
Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?
