

Child Of Burning Time (Bonus track)

Slipknot

My only consolation is all lies

The apex of my consequence is dying here tonight

Winter has returned and it always looks like rain

I can't remember anything, anything

Inside the absolution is to come

And appetites are bittersweet I think I'm coming home

A chance to give up Avarice has marked my one regret

The child of burning time has gone, he hasn't come back

He hasn't come back yet Before I tell my story please consider who I am

I missed my window years ago, I'm doing all I can

A tragedy is commonplace but in the end they go away

A skin is still the only stain I'm left to wear in shame

And I cut my need into my heart, I tear it all apart

I beg you burn me away, I won't become your hero

Just to fight the life I saved

Burn me away, I won't give up tomorrow just to lose it all today I burn away

I burn away

I burn away

I burn away My isolation is my course

The effect it has on life itself is a cancer on its source

I rue the moments spent between the fetish and the flame

Until this war is over I won't ever lose my rage And I cut my need into my soul, I guess I'll never know

I beg you burn me away, I won't become your hero

Just to fight the life I saved

Burn me away, I won't give up tomorrow just to lose it all today Burn me away, I wont become your hero just to fight the life I saved

Burn me away, I wont give up tomorrow just to lose it all, lose it all today
