Twins

Caribou

the wind shook the kiss from your mouth before i could learn whose twin i was your face familiar like a light in the water just your touch could cure my lonesome blood you let go of everything you had and everything got left here waiting for what comes next the state of things is tied to me and i've been careless i think too much i want to lie still near you i want to
the wind shook the kiss from your mouth
before i could learn whose twin i was

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/