parasite

crekko

You've got nowhere to hide and all bullshit aside
You've committed a terrible crime
You've stepped over the line
And you'd better be running for your life
Fucked over again, I even called you a friend
A mistake I won't be repeating
I just don't understand
How you can even continue to deny
You know why?
(You don't remember why)
Don't you pretend that you don't know why
(You fucking parasite)
Because you're living through
Association that has been getting you high
You sell your soul for just a taste of my life
Now what a surprise, to discover the lies
You'll be telling again in no time
You just don't realize they'll come back
And be fucking up your life
In trouble again, I just don't understand
This whole pattern that keeps repeating
You know, you'll do it again
And admit you can step into the light
You know why?
(You don't remember why)
Don't you pretend that you don't know why
(You fucking parasite)
Because you're living through
Association that has been getting you high
You sell your soul for just a taste of my life
Determination has been running on high
No control, for just a taste of my life
Because your association has been getting you high
You sell your soul for just a taste of my life
Determination has been running on high
No control, for just a taste of my life
For just a taste of my life
You've got nowhere to hide and all bullshit aside
You've committed a terrible crime

You've stepped over the line
And you'd better be running for your life

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/